CHRISTMAS CAKE

Cake. What is cake? Cake is supposed t be one of the dainties—occasionally it is a compound resembling lead. What cake is, depends on WHO makes it, HOW they make it, and OF WHAT they make it. Most any good cook can make good cake someany good coar can make good cake some-ting, butthere are very few who can mak it good always. The reason is this: Some-times the cook uses one four and sometimes another. You say: "Well, what of that? All fours are alike." "Oh, no, they're not; there's just where you're wrong, and that's there's just where you're wrong, and that's just the reason the good cook can't always make good cake, nor other good 'goodies'. There is as much difference between brands of flour as between gold and brass. A flour may make up like lead, and a flour—such as "Ceres"—will make up like a sponge. Which is going to make the light cake! The flour like "Ceres," of course, and by the way, there are very few flours like "Ceres," and consequently very few cakes. LLL "Ceres," and consequently very few cakes is light and wholesome as the users of "Ceres" make. All this cake talk is beause Christmas is near and you're thinking about the good things you're going to make up for Christmas consumption, and we want you to think of "Ceres" when you

sively.

If you do you'll be plad.

If you don't your cake'll be bad.

Beware of imitations. Every such and barrel of the renuine "Ceres" contains a circular signed in autograph by Wm. M. Goit & Co., and bearing the imprint of two gold medals. All grocers sell "Ceres."

For your cake's sake buy it. We only whole-sale it.

tor from New York. Mr. Hill's friends here, who pretend to know something about the situation of affairs in New York, declare that the election of Murphy cannot be prevented except by a bolt of the party cancus of the legislature, and that if the opposition is not prepared to go as far as a bolt they had better drop the fight. If Murphy should go into the Senate without any very great trouble, they say, he might not be unfriendly to Mr. Cleveland, but that if with the idea of electing some one who would be a personal representative of the new President they should make a really ugly fight it might be found that during Mr. Cleveland's term be could not hope for harmony between the New York Senators and the administration. Hill makes it quite clear to his friends that he does not intend to have Murphy turned down.

CLAIMS INVESTIGATED.

This division has during the past fiscal year investigated for the second auditor of the United States treasury ninety-two claims for pay and bounty made on behalf of the alleged heirs of deceased soldiers, by which a large saving was made to the treasury, but the exact amount cannot be stated.

For the third auditor of the United States treasury forty-seven claims made by various personal representative in the Senate from his own state. It is surprising how many very fine books we are selling. The demand for books with poor paper and binding has been unusually small. This is very encouraging. We have a good stock of the best of the purpose named.

The craze for imitating the notes and coins of the United States has only been equaled by that for mutilating its silver and gold coins by turning them into lockets, charms, bowls for spoons, bangles and other articles for personal adornment, &c. Though all such acts are deprecated by those who regard the stamp on the coin as representing the authority of a government of the people, yet when the mutilation removes all designs of a coin therefrom it ceases to be a coin and no person is harmed thereby.

Coins for oanaments.

But the mutilations herein complained of are only partial—a hole drilled through a coin, an advertisement stamped on it or the designs upon one side of it only are ground off and a monogram engraved thereon, these and a variety of other mutilations, done with innocent intent, yet leaving enough of the stamp of the coin to indicate what it was originally, but not sufficiently to qualify it for redemption by the government that is used it. The thought of the person doing this injury or procuring it to be done is to take the coin out of circulation, but the ornament is lost or stolen or by gift changes hands or the stress of poverty puts the mutilated coin in circulation again by deceptively plugging the hole with baser metal or placing in exchange for merchandise, and it thence forth is a nuisance, a worry, a preceptor in the art of deceit as it passes from hand to hand, and ultimately becomes a pecuniary loss to It was decided to hold the convention on the 27th, 28th and 29th of January and the consideration of details was deferred to a future portation to the Montreal convention in July, 1893, reported that the committee had secured accommodations for the District of Columbia delegation at the Hotel Richelieu.

The division still has two expert accountants assisting the United States attorney in the preparation of evidence for the trials of the officers and others concerned in the wrecking of two Philadelphia banks, and while much work is being done in that city, other experts have been engaged in the investigation and assisting in the criminal prosecution of persons who have brought trouble to the First National Yesterday while Mrs. A. The Democratic Central Committee.

At the meeting of the democratic central committee of the District last evening Messrs. Weller, Tolson, Manogue, Cook, Boyle, Burns, Madigan, Costello, Wells, Regan, Lynch and McDonnell were appointed a committee to report on the feasibility of redistricting the District.

Mr. Boyle offered a resolution setting forth the position the committee had taken in the recent controversy respecting the inauguration committee and declaring that the democratic central committee indorse the action taken by Chairman Harrity, and do hereby express its satisfaction with the committee as appointed by him.

A Suit for Slander.

The bimetallic league, in session here, have passed resolutions declaring that they will resist any attempt to repeal the Sherman silver act unless it is replaced by some hw more nearly approaching free silver. This defines the attitude of the free silver men in Congress. They will not permit anything at all to be done unless it is in the interest of their policy. The anti-silver democrats would be very glad to go back to the old Bland law, but the silver men will not consent. Mr. Tracey of New York says that he would be willing to go back to the Bland law with a provision that the maximum amount of 4,000,000 cunces a month abould be purchased if the weight of the dollar were increased to an ounce. Or he would go back to the Bland law as it was rather than have the present law continued.
